INTEREST CENTERS ON CROWE TRIAL.

Motion for Continuance Overruled and Trial Begun

Dying Declaration of The Deceased Produced as Evidence For State.

Interest in Circuit Court has all centered in the trial of the Crowes, Lige, Roy and Murry, for the Murder of Emilie Wade. The case was called Wednesday morning and the defendants who were indicted jointly demanded a separate trial whereupon the Commonwealth elected to try Lige Crowe first and announced ready for trial in this case. The defendant, on account of the absence of witnesses announced not ready and Barnes and Anderson attorneys representing him retired to prepare an affidavit for continuance, which they did in about an hour. On examination of the affidavit, Commonwealth's Attorney, Ringo and County Attorney, Woodward, agreed that the affidavit might be read as the deposition of the absent witnesses and the empaneling of a jury was at once begun. The jury box was filled from the regular panel and after a brief examination of the jurors, touching qualifications, attorneys representing the Commonwealth announced that the jury was satisfactory. Whereupon a attorneys representing the defendant after some examination of the jurors excused about half of the panel. The jury was completed a number of times and accepted by the Commonwealth, but as often the attorneys for defendant excused one or more jurors until they had exhausted practically all their fifteen peremptory challenges, when the jury was finally accepted by both parties. It is composed of the following persons, who are among best citizens of the county; W. H. Dean, R. D. Carter, Alvin Carter, J. A. Johnson, C. R. Ashby, H. D. Smith, J. A. King, Andrew Addington, A. I. Vincent, W. C. Fulkerson, Mayworth Barnard and Payton Dougherty.

The case for the Commonwealth was stated by County Attorney, E. M. Woodward. In a forceful and eloquent manner he delineated the events of the tragedy as witnesses for the Commonwealth were expected to relate them from the witness stand.

The first witness was Mrs. Emilie Wade. She stated that she was in the tobacco field with her husband when the Crowes came up and without warning fired upon him. She looked up from her work and saw Emilie running away, and Roy Crowe continued to fire.

Charles Wade, a brother of the deceased, stated that after the deceased had abandoned all hope of recovery told him the Crowes caught him without anything and he could not understand why they had butchered him up that way.

John Foreman, who was at work in an adjoining field stated that he reached the deceased within two minutes after the shots were fired and after he sank to his knees from the effects of the fatal shot and that Lige Crowe the defendant on trial came up. As he came up a revolver in his pocket and said "g-d d-n you Emilie if you had done what you said you would, there would have been nothing of this," to which Emilie said "Lord have mercy."

G. T. Wade, the father of the deceased related practically the same and added that the deceased told him the Crowes came up and said "lie and almost instantly thereafter Roy fired and before he could make his escape had been shot all to pieces.

Sam Pate accompanied the Crowes from the field in which he and Foreman were at work to Crowe's house for the purpose of borrowing an ax and as they passed the barn in which the Crowes intended housing their tobacco, Lige Crowe called him in and said to him "We have no clear poles and tobacco sticks whereupon Roy Crowe remarked that they had best cut them themselves and not have any trouble with Emilie Wade, and Lige Crowe said "We will do that, we don't want any trouble with Emilie. He likewise stated substantially Wade's dying declaration as given by John Foreman and George and Charles Wade. This closed the evidence for the state and the hour for adjournment having arrived the case was continued until yesterday morning.

When court convened yesterday morning attorneys for the defendant announced that they would waive formal statement of defendant's case to the jury, and defendant was placed on the stand as the first witness. He stated that he and the boys were going to work by their usual route and knew nothing about where Wade was. He defendant was not armed, owned a pistol which he thought was at home but which was really carried that morning by Roy Crowe, another of the defendants. Usually took it along to prevent its being stolen from their home, but had forgotten it that day. Did not know Roy had the pistol until they reached the point where Wade was. He defendant had passed fifteen or twenty feet. Roy was about opposite Wade Roy said, "Emilie, we are out of the poles and cannot house our tobacco until we get some. What are you going to do about it?" Whereupon Wade said "g-d d-n you I will tier pole you and reached with his left hand inside his overall jacket and started at Roy, at which time Roy shot. Wade kept advancing and Roy shot four more times, then Wade turned and ran. When he reached where Wade had fallen, he said Emilie, if you had not done as you have, there would have been nothing of this. I might have said g-d d-n you Emilie, if you had not done as you have there would have been nothing of this.

Murry Crowe, another of the defendants was next called and corroborated the statements of Lige Crowe in practically every particular.

H. C. Acton was then called and told of Roy Crowe surrendering to

REPUBLICANS NAMED A STRONG TICKET

For the County Offices Over in McLean County Last Saturday.

The Republicans of McLean county met in mass convention at Calhoun Saturday afternoon about 500 strong, and nominated a county ticket, composed of popular men, and it will make a strong one to contest with the Democrats in the general election next November. The convention was a harmonious one.

A feature of the convention was a speech by V. P. Statler, former sheriff of McLean county in which he declared he would no longer affiliate with the Democratic party, but in the future he would be allied with the Republican party.

The following is the ticket nominated: County Judge, G. W. Adams; county clerk, E. McEuen; circuit county clerk, Roscoe I. Downs; county attorney, W. G. Newton; sheriff, C. M. Marks; jailer, Doc Thompson; assessor, J. L. Bivens; representative in the General Assembly A. T. Lee assessor, J. L. Bivens; Representative

Public Sale.

I will, on Saturday, March 13, 1909, at my farm on Barnett's Creek, offer for sale all my farming implements consisting of Plows, Harrows, Mowing Machine, Hay-Rake, Hay-Press, also two Mares and one three-year-old Horse. Terms made known on day of sale.

Lloyd-Howard.

Mrs. E. Hillard Lloyd and Mr. J. Brady Howard were married at the Bell hotel on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 by Rev. L. B. Warren in the presence of a few friends. Miss Mabel Chambers, of Fordsville and Mr. J. P. Whitlinghill of this city were the attendants.

The bride formerly resided at Deanfield, but has, for several months been residing with her father, Mr. J. Haynes, in this city. She is a highly esteemed woman. The groom is a prominent citizen of Fordsville and for many years he conducted the principal hotel there. The couple will make their home at Fordsville to which place they went soon after the ceremony was performed.—Owensboro Messenger.

SOME HELPFUL AIDS TO CONTESTANTS.

The young ladies in the piano contest do not have to see people and ask them to vote for them as some think. They are to solicit for the Republican. You meet a man, woman, boy or girl and you ask him or her to subscribe for the Republican, and you secure his or her name, take their money and give a receipt and record 500 votes for yourself in receipts sent you, for every dollar sent in. In each case you give the subscriber a receipt for the money paid you, and you report to the Republican office and turn over your money, and you are entitled to 500 votes for every dollar on new subscription and 400 on renewal subscription. We give you the ballots, you write your name on them and you east them in the ballot box and go on your way rejoicing and get more subscriptions and collect more back subscription. So you see it is not a question of soliciting people to vote for you, but one of asking them to subscribe for the Republican and you get the votes.

DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATORS FLEE FROM TENN.

To Prevent the Republicans of that State From Passing Fair Election Law.

Hopkinsville, March 1.—Instead of returning to Nashville as they originally planned the runaway senators, whose truancy breaks a quorum in the Tennessee general assembly have sent for their trunks. They propose to stay in Hopkinsville until the present legislative session is concluded unless they receive assurance that the Republicans will keep their hands off the selection of election commissioners.

The action of the conditionists in going ahead with arrangements for a joint convention in the face of the governor's veto and despite the absence of the truants, decided them in this course.

Already they say, they have received overtures looking to a compromise, but they are wary of any proposals just at present. Assistant Sergeant-at-arms O. H. Yeaman arrived in the city to-day and has faithfully shadowed the filibusters. It is said he has instructions to get on the train with them when they start for Nashville and place them under arrest when the state line is crossed.

Representatives Cordon, of Chattanooga and Puryear of Gallatin and W. D. Scruggs, private secretary of Governor Patterson, held conference with the senator to-day and last night. They were long closeted with the Hon. Austin Peay, the governor's political manager.

The filibusters have issued a statement saying the sole purpose of their flight is to prevent the Republicans from electing the State Board of Election Commissioners, which is provided in the joint resolution vetoed by Gov. Patterson, but which the conditionists propose to pass over his protest.

They do not question the right of the legislature to elect the state treasurer, controller and state election board. Their absence from Tennessee, they say, is a "silent, but potent protest against the proscription of the powers of the general assembly for partisan political purposes."

Neal-Forman.

One of the prettiest marriages of the season was that of Miss Eva Forman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Forman and Mr. Charles Neal, which was solemnized at the First Baptist church, Narrows, K., Sunday evening Feb. 21, at 7:30 o'clock. The ceremony was said by the bride's pastor Rev. P. E. Herndon, of Russellville.

The church was especially decorated for the occasion in colors of green and white. The altar was backed with evergreen, it being massed with ferns. The bride had for her maid of honor, Miss Myrtle Carter, who was her only attendant. The best man was Mr. Herbert Graham, an uncle of the bride. The best man and the maid of honor entered the center aisle preceding the bride, who entered upon the arm of the groom. The wedding music was played by Miss Lake Hines at the organ. The music was continued throughout the ceremony and was very beautiful.

The bride wore a handsome wedding costume of blue satin trimmed in lace, with large face collar and bridal veil to match and carried a beautiful bouquet of brides roses. The maid of honor's gown was of white dam ask cloth and she wore a large white rose in her hair. After the ceremony the bridal party returned to the home of the bride many congratulations were accepted by the happy couple.

Feb. 22 a dinner was given at the bride's grand parents home and was highly enjoyed by all present. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neal will remain with the bride's parents for some week then will visit relatives in Bowling Green.

CUCHEE.

One Year in Pen for Ex-Treasurer Walter Day.

Jackson, Ky., Feb. 27.—Walter R. Day, former state treasurer of Kentucky during the Taylor regime, was to-day given a penitentiary sentence of one year by a jury in the Circuit court on conviction of the charge of forging the name of his uncle Floyd Day, to a $4,000 note. The trial began yesterday before Special Judge James S. Morris, of Lexington.

FOR THE BUSY READER.

In a letter to President Roosevelt, who appointed him collector of the port of Charleston, S. C., six years ago, Dr. W. D. Crum has resigned his position, to take effect March 4.

In a decision rendered by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati the union men win in the case of the Typographical of America against the International Printing Pressmen's Union.

A $50,000 monument in memory of President James A. Garfield is proposed in a bill introduced Monday by Representative Lengley, of Kentucky. The measure provides that the monument shall be erected on or near the Middle Creek battlefield in Floyd county Kentucky.

The Fiscal Court of Christian county has resisted the request of the County School Board of that county to impose the tax levy for schools under the new law passed by the last Legislature. The School Board has brought suit, which will eventually go to the court of Appeals. The outcome will be watched with interest all over the State.

By a vote of 26 to 23 the Indiana Senate Tuesday killed the Proctor-Tomlinson bill for the repeal of the county option law by striking out the enacting clause. The death of the bill sounds a victory for temperance advocates. The fight on the measure has engaged the Indiana Legislature during its entire session. The House passed the new Sunday baseball bill after a heated Biblical debate.

Park-Young.

The marriage of Miss Adah B. Park and Mr. William Hewitt Young was quietly solemnized Tuesday evening in the parlor of the Willard hotel in Louisville. Rev. J. Beauchamp, pastor of the First Methodist church performed the ceremony. Mrs. Young is the daughter of Milton Park, of McHenry, this county and is one of the county's most popular young ladies. She has been employed as manager for the millinery department of David Baird and son, of Louisville for the past three years. Mr. Young is one of Owensboro's popular and most promising young business men. After a short bridal tour in the east they will make their home with the groom's parents. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Young, of Owensboro.

SUCCESSFUL FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Designing Persons Raise False Cry of Politics.

Program Full of Interesting and Instructive Subjects Carried Out.

The fourth Annual meeting of the State Farmers' Institute was held at Elizabethtown last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. It was well attended by farmers from all over the State and would have been very much better attended had it not been for the high waters which prevented the running of trains on a number of railroads just at the time the institute began. The program was well arranged and in such a way as to provide for the discussion of all the scientific problems connected with agriculture, by men noted for their learning in the various lines suggested by their subjects. The people of Elizabethtown threw open their homes for the reception and entertainment of delegates during their stay in their beautiful little city and on Thursday evening a delightful entertainment was given the visitors at the opera house by local talent in the way of musical selections and recitations. Everyone present was delighted with the way in which the entertainment was conducted. The institute was called to order Wednesday morning by State President H. M. Froman, of Gen., Ky. The welcome address was delivered by H. A. Summers, of Elizabethtown News, in a pleasing and sensible talk. The response on behalf of delegates was made by President Froman.

A great deal of exaggeration has been resorted to, especially in the Courier-Journal and Times of Louisville, criticizing the institute on the charge of indulging in politics, and the effort has been made to show that the Republicans introduced politics into the institute. This is absolutely false. A resolution at the beginning of the session was introduced providing for selection of the various committees by the body, along the same lines which had been taken by Senator Newman, a Democrat, last year, taking the appointment of the committees out of the hands of the State President. It was then that Senator Newman, and he alone, raised a cry of politics, charging that it was done in the interest of the Republican candidates for members of the State Board of Agriculture. Senator Newman offered a substitute for the resolution which was defeated by a vote of two to one, and the original resolution was adopted providing the various committees for the institute. These committees contained Democrats as well as Republican members, and each one of them made a unanimous report back to the body. The Credentials Committee meeting, every contest in an amicable manner, and the committee on organization report nominated president Froman, a Democrat, for an other term and his election was supported by every Republican member of the institute. When Senator Newman and other Democrats found that they could not run the institute they attempted to break it up by introducing a resolution declaring that no institute could be held and that all of the delegates had been illegally elected. It will be remembered that when the State Board of Agriculture was first appointed all seven of the members were Democrats, and there was no change in the political composition of the board until this year, when two Republicans were selected one in the Second and one in the Seventh Appellate Court District.

It is also charged that the program was packed with Republicans, when in fact out of about thirty addressees, featured in the program less than a half dozen were by Republicans. All of the talk about farmers leaving the convention in disgust is bosh. Those who remained until the close know that this is untrue and that some of the very best addressees heard during the institute were delivered on the last day and on the afternoon of the last day and were listened to with keen interest by hundreds of farmers. It is true that a number of Democratic politicians left in disgust, simply because they could not run the institute as they always had done and failing to run it were determined to break it up in any manner they could. We hope it is not a crime to elect or attempt to elect a Republican member of the Board of Agriculture, even in the State of Kentucky. Especially as it will only give them three out of seven composing the Board. We believe that instead of being a hindrance to the board that it will be a great advantage over the old way of attempting to appeal to all the people through a board made up of members from only one party.

BARRETT'S FERRY.

March 3.—Mr. Less Shroeder has sold his property and will go to New Bedford Mass., to make his home.

Mr. James Wedding was called to the bedside of his father, near Sulphur Springs Sunday.

Misses Grace and Margaret Renfrow of Narrows were the guests of their little friend Little James, Monday.

Misses Ada Maud Shroeder and Camma Wedding were the guests of Mrs. Blanche Bolling Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Alma Petty was the guest of her father Mr. P. T. Petty of Narrows last week.

Mrs. Besse Wedding, is visiting her mother Mrs. Graham, at Narrows this week.

The Musical entertainment given at Mr. Davidson's Friday night was quite a success all report a nice time.

HARGIS SURRENDERED BY BONDSMEN.

Patricide Tries to Paint Jackson Red, But is Halted in His Mad Career and Sent to Jail.

Beach Hargis went on another tear at Jackson last Friday, had the cashier at the bank give him $25 of his mother's money without either check or voucher, filled his pockets with beer and "joy juice" at one of the blind tigers of the neighborhood; slung his trusty "45" against his side and started out to smear red paint over the whole town, but his bondsmen Floyd Day, John Day and Dr. W. P. Hogg, decided to surrender him and by their direction Deputy Sheriff Flint Davis arrested young Hargis and placed him in jail. When arrested the patricide's pockets, it is said contained five bottles of beer and two quarts of whisky, while his trusty "45" hung by his side.

He was taken to Irvine in charge of Deputy Sheriffs Haddock, Flint Davis and Jailer Little of Breathitt county.

Hargis' bondsmen were his two uncles John and Floyd Day, and brother-in-law, Dr. Hogg, who became surety for $20,000.

Young Hargis will be put on trial again in April at Irvine on the charge of killing his father, Judge James Hargis.

WHITESVILLE.

March 2.—Miss Ella Norris of Aetnaville has been visiting her uncle, Mr. Sam Norris for the past week.

Mr. McKenzie Ralph has been visiting at Mr. C. A. Kelley's for the past few days.

Mr. J. A. Edge passed through town Monday enroute for Owensboro.

Mr. W. P. Griffith has purchased an interest in Mr. Boone Hinton's store at Oklabona.

The spring school began here last Monday with Prof. B. C. Gibson and wife and Mr. R. H. Neel as teachers. The attendance was good and the prospects are good for a fine spring school at this place.

The M. W. of A. will meet here at Masonic hall on next Saturday night. The order was put in here last July with 14 charter members and has now grown to 30 which speaks well for the lodge.

The roads in this neighborhood are fine considering the quantity of rain that has fallen. Quite a number of bridges have been washed away but for that traveling is good.

Whitesville is to be furnished with an eight room high school building for next fall school.

The town has been full of farmers all the week getting the tobacco on the 1906 pooled tobacco. Most of them are very well satisfied.

Rev. Hudsph of Hopkinsville helped in a protracted meeting at the Christian church during last week.

SIGNIFICANCE OF RAILROAD TIES

White-oak the Best and Most Used.

Other Woods Make Good Ties if Durability is Lengthed by Chemical Treatment.

That the humble railroad tie is a most important factor in the material development of the country is a great truth that is little understood by people outside of railroad circles. The putting engine that speeds at the rate of a mile or more a minute over the country is a slave to the two steel rails that insure a smooth and safe road, and these rails in turn depend on the old-fashioned wooden cross-tie which holds them in place.

Yankee invention has not yet found a substitute which has induced the railroads to give up wood, although experts say that the day will surely come when the country's forests will no longer be called upon to supply the demand for ties. Up to the present time it seems that no other material has been found which has the resiliency of wood and which at the same time causes less wear and tear on the rails, fastenings and roadbed.

The country's railroads during the last two or three years used 110,000,000 to 150,000,000 of sawed and hewn ties a year. The ideal tie timber is white oak, which combines the qualities of durability, hardness, strength and close grain. It is not only excellent for ties, but is widely used in ship building, for general construction, in cooperage, in the manufacture of carriages, for agricultural implements, interior finish of houses, and for furniture. On account of this wide use, the supply has been greatly reduced and some of the railroads have been forced to pay almost prohibitive prices for ties, or to substitute other and cheaper woods to replace the white oak ties rapidly disappearing from their lines.

Over 40 per cent of the ties recently purchased by the railroads of the country are oak, according to latest statistics of United States Forest Service. Cross-ties of Southern pine formed somewhat less than 25 per cent. Douglas fir ties ranked third, with approximately 10 per cent of the total. Naturally the proportion of these two timbers will increase as the supply of oak dwindles. This is also true of cedar, chestnut, cypress. Western larch, tamarack, hemlock, and other trees which are coming into the market as tie timbers.

Cedar, which is very durable, has been extensively used to take the place of white oak for ties, but it is so soft that it is readily cut by the rails. This necessitates the use of the plates and other protective devices when cedar ties are used. As the supply of cedar is also running short, it is necessary for the railroads to seek further for new tie timber. One of the woods which has all the requisites of a good tie, with the exception of durability, is the beech.

A beech tie generally consists largely of sapwood, which partly accounts for its lack of durability, but, on the other hand, allows a thorough and easy preservative treatment. In Germany and France, beech ties have been successfully preserved from decay, and are used very extensively. Beech is found widely distributed throughout the eastern part of the United States, and at the same time is comparatively cheap and abundant. If, therefore, the railroads whose lines are located in the region where beech is abundant can make use of this wood, treated with some suitable preservative, another source of supply of tie timber will be opened up.

Stumpage values have been increasing so rapidly during the last few years that many railroads have found it necessary to modify their timber policy, and they yearly apply preservatives to a greater number of ties and to more kinds of wood. Substitute woods naturally vary with different sections of the country, but in most cases they lack the two essential qualities found in white oak, namely, resistance to mechanical wear and to decay. Experience proves that wear can be successfully retarded by the use of the plates and other mechanical devices, and decay can be postponed by application of proper preservatives. The new conditions have made it necessary for many railroad companies to meet the problem of preservation by establishing treating plants at central points of distribution along their lines.

The Festive Hog.

A writer who can write a poem on any subject says of the hog: "The hog is a machine that oils itself, puts ten bushels of feed into less space than a bushel measure, and in so doing doubles its value then can carry it to market on its back. Corn, barley, oats, grass, rape, clover or any of the by-products of these loaned to a well-bred thrifty hog, is money at big interest. In fact, it is a mint. "The grain and grasses are the bullion, which put into the hog is transmuted into coin. It is an honest mint and gives sixteen ounces avoirdupois of edible meat. Properly bred, fed and intelligently handled, this automatic porker will pay off our debts, furnish the money to improve the farm place a piano in the home, a carriage at the door, as well as a means to educate our boys at the agricultural college."

NO INDIGESTION OR DYSPEPSIA.

Misery from an Upset Stomach Goes in five Minutes.

Take Some Diapepsin Now And Forever end All Distress From A Disordered Stomach.

Every family here ought to keep some Diapepsin in the house, as any one of you may have an attack of indigestion or stomach trouble at any time, day or night.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour stomach five minutes afterwards. If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you or lays like a lump of lead in your stomach or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your Pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take one triangle after supper to-night. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or indigestible griping. This will all go and, besides there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors. Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for all stomach misery, because it will take hold of your food and digest it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Actual, prompt relief for all your stomach misery is at your Pharmacist waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to cure a case of Dyspepsia or Indigestion.

COLD SNAPS OF LONG AGO.

It Will Make You Shiver to Note Them.

Records of Europe Prove That the World is Growing Warmer.

There is abundant evidence that the earth is becoming warmer rather than colder. In addition to the strictly scientific proof in support of that view, the record of several cold winters in the past centuries compared with the present also tends support to that contention. The record discloses some curious freaks on the part of old Boreas, beginning with the fifth century of the Christian era and extending down to the present day.

The Black Sea was completely covered with ice for a period of 20 days in 401.

The Danube River was frozen over so that an army crossed it on the ice in the year 462.

There was a frost in Constantinople which lasted from October to February in 463.

The Black Sea and the Dardanelles again were frozen over in 768.

The Danube, the Elbe and the Seine were frozen hard to bear up a heavy wagon traffic over them for a month in the winter of 822.

The Adriatic Sea was frozen in 860.

There was a snowstorm in Europe in 874 which lasted from the beginning of November to the end of March.

Nearly all the vines in Europe were killed by frost in 891 and 892. One midsummer's day, 1033, in England, there was a frost so severe that it destroyed fruit.

The River Po, in Italy was frozen from Cremona to the sea in 1133. Wine casks burst and trees split by the action of the frost.

Loaded wagons crossed the Adriatic Sea on the ice from the mainland to Venice in 1234.

The Danube River was frozen to the bottom in 1236 and remained so frozen for a long time.

The Otagat was frozen from Norway to Jutland in 1261.

The Rhine was frozen over and loaded wagons crossed it on the ice in 1292.

Travelers also crossed from Norway to Jutland on the ice same year.

All the rivers of Italy were frozen over during the winter of 1344. It was so cold in Denmark that the wolves could not stay there in 1403 and they crossed to Jutland on the ice.

The wine froze in Flanders in 1468 and the soldiers to whom it was distributed had to cut it in pieces with hatchets.

The River Scheldt was frozen over sufficiently hard for three months in 1565 to bear the traffic of loaded wagons.

All the rivers of Europe were frozen over and the Venetian fleet was frozen up in the lagoons of the Adriatic at Venice in 1621 and 1622.

The winter of 1658 was a hard one in Europe. Charles X. of Sweden crossed on the ice the Little Belt the strait between Funen and the peninsula of Jutland, with his whole army, foot, horse baggage and artillery. The rivers in Italy bore heavy carriages.

There was a coating of ice 61 inches thick on the Thames in England in 1664, and in 1684 the ice was again thick enough on the Thames to support coaches which were driven across it.

The winters of 1691 and 1693 were so severe in Austria that the wolves entered Vienna and attacked men and beasts in the streets.

The winter of 1709 is called by distinction "the cold winter." All the rivers and lakes of Europe were frozen over and so was the sea for several miles from the shore. In England the ground was frozen nine feet deep. Birds and beasts died in the fields and men perished by thousands in their houses. In the south of France the olive trees were killed and wine plantations destroyed. The Adriatic Sea was frozen and even the Mediterranean about Genoa. The citron and orange groves suffered in Italy.

Fairs were held on the ice on the River Thames in the winter of 1716, and travelers crossed on the ice from Copenhagen to Sweden.

Multitudes of cattle and sheep were buried in the snow in Scotland in the winter of 1726.

In January 1737, the ground was frozen to a depth of four feet in New England.

ICEBOAT RUNS 70 MILES AN HOUR.

Motor Sled That Travels as Fast
As a Toboggan, and there is No Walking Back.

The motor iceboat affords the finest of all winter sports. It travels as fast as a toboggan, and there is no walking back. Anyone who has a small power launch can construct and equip a motor iceboat at trifling cost and with little loss of time. The boat in the illustration was built and run the past winter at Marine City, Mich., by John Milor and John Deabe. A glance at the picture tells how it is constructed. The frame is 8 ft. long, 3 ft. wide, of 2 by 6 in. stuff. The flooring is 1-in pine the engine is a 3-hp. taken from their motor boat. The driving wheel is an old metal-rim bicycle wheel with the rim chipped to make teeth. This wheel is 28 inches in diameter connected to the engine with a sprocket chain. The driver is carried in a rocking frame which can be raised to lift the wheel from the ice or depressed to make the teeth bite into the ice as desired. This is accomplished by moving the upright rod shown. The rear runners are 5 feet apart. Steering is by means of the steering rod shown and the single front runner. In case of accident this steering rod would be dangerous; a horizontal steering wheel can easily be substituted and would be much better. The boat attained frequently a speed of 70 miles an hour. Indeed with smooth ice and no wind a speed of 100 miles an hour is well within the possibilities.

The Road to Success.

has many obstructions, but none so desperate as poor health. Success today demands health, but Electric Bitters is the greatest health builder the world has ever known. It compels perfect action of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels, purifies and enriches the blood, and tones and invigorates the whole system. Vigorous body and keen brain follow their use. You can't afford to slight Electric Bitters if weak, run-down or sickly. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Artist's Queer Dilemma.

Homer Davenport, the artist, is in bad. He's got to travel 10,000 miles or pay all the expenses of another man's wedding even to buying the bride and furnishing provender for the wedding guests.

It will cost $1,000 to travel those 10,000 miles and it will cost $1,000 to pay for the wedding if he stays home. Davenport is trying to figure out the answer.

It all happened in about a minute, and the poor man was indirectly to blame, for he brought a letter from

Lame
Back

An aching back is instantly relieved by an application of Sloan's Liniment.

This liniment takes the place of massage and is better than sticky plasters. It penetrates—without rubbing—through the skin and muscular tissue right to the bone, quickens the blood, relieves congestion, and gives permanent as well as temporary relief.

Sloan's Liniment

has no equal as a remedy for Rheumatism, Neuralgia, or any
pain or stiffness in the muscles

Akmut Haffez, supreme sheik of the Bedouin tribe of the Anazeh.

Of course, Davenport is the brother of the sheik. He was elected to that honor two years ago when for five months he lived as an Arab among Arabs in the Arabian desert, and was one of the two wife men thus favored.

Over in Arabia they don't just fall in love with each other and hurry to the city hall for a license. The groom's papa has to purchase the bride for his son. Brides range in value from one to five hundred dollars.

Akmut Haffez announced in his letter to his white brother that his son, Fayal Haffez, was about to embark on the matrimonial desert and demanded the presence of Davenport as best man. As to the penalty for refusal, he stated gravely that if the desired best man did not show up at the appointed hour he (the best man) would be charged in full with all the expenses including the price of the bride and the cost of the rice.—New York Cor. MRS. EMMA F. MUMFORD

MRS. I. D. HAYES.

MR. GEO. W. AMORY

Mrs. Emma F. Mumford, No. 1 Olsen's Court, Salt Lake City, Utah, writes:
"Four months ago I became chilled through and through by getting my feet wet.
"The next morning I was stiff and sore with a severe cold which had settled all over my body. The blood seemed to rush to my head, causing dizziness and blinding headaches.
"As soon as Peruna was recommended to me I decided to give it a trial and am pleased to say that it cured me after I had used it only two months.
"I think you have a splendid medicine and gladly endorse it."
People preferring solid medicines should call for Peruna tablets. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

Mr. George W. Amory, 887 West 19th St., New York City, New York, writes:
"Somehow I have always had a prejudice against advertised medicine, but I want to make one decided exception in favor of Peruna.
"I caught a cold last winter and it settled in throat and head, developing a most persistent catarrh, which seemed to defy all medicines until I tried Peruna. Before I had used two bottles I considered myself cured."

PERUNA A REAL MEDICINE
Those Who Slander Peruna Know Nothing About It.

THE PEOPLE WHO USE IT ARE THE ONLY RELIABLE WITNESSES.

be so need one trial will be sufficient to disabuse his mind.
Peruna is a great and useful family medicine. It is used in multitudes of homes. It has become a standard remedy for various petty ailments in the home. It is especially useful for climatic diseases. It is an excellent remedy for colds. It is a well-tried remedy for catarrh in all forms.
We have a multitude of testimonials recommending it for colds, for bronchitis, for various affections of the respiratory and alimentary organs.
This is well known to all who know Peruna by actual experience.
"Cures All Catarrhal Diseases."
Mr. I. W. Kightlinger, Cambridge, Neb., writes: "I don't have any more trouble in my throat, and have not had a headache for four weeks."
"Peruna is the very medicine for catarrh. There is no medicine like it in the United States, for I have tried a good many before using Peruna."
"I will keep it in my house to guard against catarrh, as it cures all catarrhal diseases."

Catarrh of Bronchial Tubes.
Mr. Wickliffe R. Smith, editor of The Post-Tribune Herald, formerly principal of the schools at Cameron, Idaho, writes:
"For some time I suffered with catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes. I tried many remedies, but could find nothing that would give me relief. Finally I tried Peruna. Three bottles cured me, sound and well. I believe it will do as much for others as it did for me."

Gained Thirty Pounds.
Mrs. Alice J. Bordner, 1311 Maple Ave., Harrisburg, Pa., writes:
"I have found a cure in Peruna. I cannot recommend Peruna enough, and I also thank you for your kind attention to me. I am as well as could be ever since I began taking Peruna, and will recommend it to others. I only weighed 65 pounds before taking Peruna; now I weigh 95."

Throat and Head.
Mrs. I. D. Hayes, 1087 Druid Hill, Baltimore, Md., writes:
"Peruna is one of the best remedies for gripe, cold in the head, sore throat, nervous headaches, and coughs that have ever been discovered. After the use of one bottle in my family I don't feel safe without Peruna in my house."
In a later letter Mrs. Hayes says: "I am never without a bottle of Peruna in the house. I find it good for most every complaint. I give the children Peruna if they have a cold and it always relieves them. I don't think I could find a better remedy to give my children."

It is so easy to criticize things about which the critic knows nothing.
Take, for instance, Peruna. There are plenty of people who are willing to say Peruna is this and that, who never have tasted Peruna, and have never known anything about its effects upon the human system.
There are people who say, and probably believe, that Peruna is used as a beverage by some people. It would be the easiest thing in the world to show the falsity of such a belief.
Let any one who reads this go to the drug store and purchase a bottle of Peruna. If, after attempting to use it as a beverage or to take it in doses sufficient to produce anything like intoxication, if after putting it to this test such a person is still of the opinion that Peruna is a disguised alcoholic drink, he will be warranted in making such a statement. Practically, Peruna cannot be so used. Any one who knows anything about Peruna by personal use knows that Peruna is a medicine. The very label on the bottle, giving the principal active ingredients, furnishes indisputable proof that Peruna is a medicinal compound. We will be willing to guarantee that no normal person can or will use Peruna as a beverage. If any one thinks this remedy can

FRIDAY, MARCH 5.

Good morning President Taft.
It is now ex-President Roosevelt.
Miss Spring insists on coming before she is invited.
It is impossible now to find a man who said the flies could not do it.
The state of Arkansas is not very proud of its most notorious assessor Jeff Davis.
It is about time for the African lion to take himself to the more secluded spots in the jungles.
Senator Hemmenway, of Indiana has been made a member of the Annals Club "at sight."
Mr. Knox is the only man connected with the administration who can point with pride to a reduction of his salary.
Taft is to continue Roosevelt's policies but with different methods. For instance he has supplanted the horse with the automobile.
The making of President-elect Taft a Mason "at sight" was a severe joke on the goat. He should have had a month's training for such a subject.
The government's "conscience fund" originated in 1811. However, it is not believed that all the people with guilty consciences have been relieved as yet.
We find quite a good deal of sentiment among the Republicans in various parts of the State for Judge O'Rear for the Republican nomination for Governor, at the next State election.
It is said that four of the jurors in the Carmack murder case can neither read nor write. They should be able to take care of all the "unwritten law" arguments during the trial.
If Mr. Taft had invited Republicans

to ignore politics at the recent presidential election in the same ratio in which he has appointed Democrats to his cabinet, Mr. Bryan would have selected the cabinet.
The States of Illinois, Wisconsin and several others have demonstrated that the selection of United States Senators by direct vote may not be so desirable after all. In Illinois and Wisconsin the nominees were selected by direct primaries, but as yet the nominees have been unable to secure election from the legislatures of the two states.
If the Republican administration, at Washington desires a complete restoration of the good times, which we enjoyed before the recent panic, it will see to it that the proposed revision of the tariff is gotten behind us as quickly as possible and with as little change in the schedules as can be gotten along with. This thing of uncertainty among the various business enterprises of the country concerning a law which affects so many avenues of trade is what makes hard times and business stagnation. The Republican party has always stood for protection, and that is what has brought this country the greatest prosperity which it ever enjoyed. Any failure on the part of the administration to stand by this principle will be visited by a rebuke at the polls two years from now as sure as Washington City is on the Potomac river.
The Tennessee Democratic senators who are sojourning at Hopkinsville, in order to defeat fair election laws in their state, evidently consider that all is fair in war and that "it is better to run away and live to fight another day," but what will their constituents think of this brave brace of lawmakers? who thus discount their services to the state of Tennessee and violate their oaths of office?
Senator Newman, who is also secretary of the State Fair at $2,500 per annum, thought it was a very grave mistake for the Farmer's Institute at Elizabethtown last week to select its own members of the various committees, and yet many people will not doubt be astonished to learn that Secretary-Senator Newman himself made the motion to do this very thing at the Farmer's Institute last year. The only difference being that Senator Newman was then trying to defeat an anti-Beckham Democrat with one branded "straight goods." The president, the same man who was president this year, and who was re-elected by the Republicans, happened to be an anti-Beckham Democrat and Senator-Secretary Newman was not willing to trust him to name the committees. Of course there was no politics in it at that time?

The Louisville Courier-Journal and Times both grossly misrepresented the action of the Farmers' Institute at Elizabethtown last week. They both represented the Republicans as introducing a substitute to the rules for appointing committees. The fact is the substitute was introduced by Senator Newman, a Democrat, and was intended to keep the appointment of all committees in the hands of the president and prevent the delegates from selecting their own committees as was provided in the resolution which was introduced by a Republican. Of course there would be no politics in the Farmers' Institute, so long as the Democrats were allowed to select all the officers and appoint all the committees. Believing, however, that it would be better for the State Board of Agriculture that it should be composed of both Republicans and Democrats, the Republicans did attempt to secure some representation on the board at this Institute. In doing so, they took no unfair advantage, but simply proceeded along the lines which the Democrats had used in their contests when one another heretofore for members of the Board. Last year at Shelbyville, a warm fight was indulged in between the Beckhams and anti-Beckham Democrats and it resulted in the defeat of Mr. Vreeland and the election of Mr. Whitlow by the Beckhams forces. Of course there was no politics in that, as it all took place within the Democratic party, but the moment some Republicans became aspirants for these honorable positions, the cry of politics was made by our Democratic friends and the action of the Republicans is misrepresented in order to create public sentiment against them throughout the State. How can a body composed of all Republicans, or all Democrats, appeal to the people of the State, regardless of politics, to support a State Fair or any other movement looking to the welfare of the Agricultural classes in the Commonwealth, or how can they appeal to members of the Legislature, both Democrats and Republicans to make appropriations to maintain an Agricultural exhibition, to be run by a management in which only one party is allowed representation?

The Doctor's First Question
"How are your bowels?" This is generally the first question the doctor asks. He knows what a sluggish liver means. He knows what a long list of distressing complaints result from constipation. He knows that headaches, bilious attacks, indigestion, impure blood, and general debility are often promptly relieved by a good liver pill. We wish you would talk with your own doctor about this subject. Ask him at the same time if he approves of Ayer's Pills. Do as he says. J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

By reason of an error of our compositor, a local which appeared in the last two issues of our paper made Carson & Company say they were selling Tobacco Cotton at 1 1/2 cents per yard, instead of 1 1/2 cents per yard. Our attention was not called to this error until it had gone through two issues of the paper. It was not any fault of Carson & Company that it appeared that way and the error has caused them some little embarrassment, but probably no permanent injury.

A man by the name of Merdith was drowned late Wednesday afternoon in Green River, near Millers Rock. He was a ruffian and he together with other hands had in charge a fleet of about 1,000 logs. Details are lacking, but it is presumed that they were attempting to tie up the raft when the skiff in which he and three other men were trying to reach the bank was upset. The other three men escaped by swimming to the shore. Merdith was from Edmonson county and the point at which he was drowned is on the line between Ohio and Butler Counties.

Among the Lodges.

Hartford Lodge No. 675, F. & A. M. had work in the Fellow Craft Degree at its regular session Monday night. Senior Warden, W. E. Ellis occupied the East, during the degree worked in a highly creditable manner. This lodge will have work in the third degree on the third Monday evening and all the members are urged to be present.

Rough River Lodge No. 110 Knights of Pythias, met in regular session Tuesday evening, with a good attendance, although no rank work was on the program. Knight, C. M. Barnett, presented the lodge with an elegantly framed chart, which was very much appreciated by the lodge and which will have an honored place on the walls of the lodge room in the future, where it may be a great help to members of the order who desire to study the beautiful lessons contained in the three ranks.

Capt. Howard Quits Race.

Bowling Green, Ky., March 2.--Nat Howard present Commonwealth's Attorney and candidate for re-election, has announced his withdrawal from the race leaving John H. Gilliam, of Scottsville, without opposition before the Republican primary, to be held in April. Mr. Howard will likely locate in Bowling Green and practice his profession. The race between Judge J. M. Galloway and J. McKenzle Moss for Circuit Judge is warm, and the rival candidates are making a vigorous canvass.

A Grand Old Play.

"Monte Cristo," kind of melodramas, will be the bill at the Opera House, Hartford, Wednesday evening, March 10. It will be the well known Fred G. Conrad production as arranged by Eugene Moore, one of the best of modern "MONTE CRISTO'S." The fame of this great play is well merited for it is a most impressive dramatization of one of the most brilliant stories ever written. One of the best of all melodramatic novels has been evolved the greatest of all romantic melodramas and both story and drama have achieved a popularity unparalleled in extent and variety. "MONTE CRISTO" is a play for all classes and people of all ages. It is even a great play for those who cannot hear, but can only see, so bold and fascinating are all its scenes. Its outlines are so clear that the play can be enjoyed by sight. Manager Conrad has gathered a Company of adequate strength, and will bring his special scenery which has been prepared with the benefit of several seasons experience with this play.

What's In a Name.

YOU would think that "The Ladies' Home Journal" was, for ladies who had homes or staid at home, a class not universal to the gentler sex. Men are now learning that the Journal is also for them.

Never an issue that has not three to five articles which would profit any man. They are taking advantage of this and the Ladies' Home Journal is now quoted by men as often as the average magazine.

"Lettie's Sister Marries!"

You who are reading this may not know what this means, but the little girls of this town do. Lettie Lane is a very popular person with them. Some of her folks come every month in the Ladies' Home Journal which is on sale together with the best patterns on earth and everything you may want from an up-to-date alive dry goods store.

THAT PROPOSED TRACTION LINE.

New Impetus Which is Favored by Citizens of Several Different Counties.

[The Henderson, Ky., Journal of recent date says:

The movement that has been on
foot for several years to build a traction line from Evansville Ind., through Henderson to Owensboro has been augmented within the past few days
by citizens of McLean county and Dowling Green, who proposed to assist in building the road if the line is extended
from Owensboro through Calhoun,
the county seat of McLean county, to Bowling Green the capital of Warren county.

Between Owensboro and Bowling
Green is a valuable stretch of country, rich in coal and forest products.
No line of railroad touches this rich
section. It is isolated from the markets and is now awaiting development.
Thousands of acres of coal and timber land lie along the proposed route.
Acres of this land contain virgin forest and coal in many places is less than 100 feet below the surface.

George F. Swint, editor of the Calhoun Star, is the prime mover of the new line. He has been working upon the proposition for several years and has just lately met with encouragement that prompts him to state that a company will be organized composed
of Evansville, Owensboro, Henderson, Calhoun and Bowling Green capitalists, which will go to work as soon
as spring opens up to build the road.

The proposed road will begin at Evansville and will cross the Ohio river
at a point above the city. It will run from Henderson through Zion and Hebardville and will cross Green river near Hamilton's ferry, entering Owensboro by way of Sorgho. From Owensboro the line will run almost direct to Calhoun then following Green river, touches Livermore Hartford, Morgantown and many other smaller towns before reaching the terminal at Bowling Green.

Reports from towns along the route
are to the effect that everything possible will be done by the citizens to assist in the building of the line.

The citizens of McLean county have gotten together on the proposition and are willing to put up a large sum of money to foster the road. The citizens of Daviess county are taking a deep interest in the line and will it is understood, put up their share of money
to make the line a certainty.

The Ohio, Butler and Warren county people are deeply interested in the line. It is stated that almost the entire right of way through these counties will be donated.

Henderson county people should get
a move on themselves and lend all the
aid to the enterprise that is needed.
A traction line through this city will be of untold value to it and county.

Over in Butler.

Dr. H. F. Whitely last Sunday morning received telegram bearing the sad
news of the death of his mother, who died of pneumonia at her home near Chickasha, Oklahoma. Remains were brought back to the family burying ground at Middleton in Simpson county
and laid to rest by the side of her husband, who died several years ago.
Dr. Whitely and wife left at once for Franklin to await the arrival of the remains.

MONUMENT FOR DR. FINLEY.

A very praiseworthy and commendable move has been started by some of our citizens to raise a fund to erect
a monument at the grave of Dr. W.
J. Finley. This we certainly owe to the memory of this great and good man whose great labor of love among
us has never been fully appreciated.
We should deem it not only a duty
but an opportunity to aid in this mov-
to express in enduring granite our love and reverence for our old preceptor and preacher who for so many years went among us doing good. And if the monument is to be an index to the worth and character of the man who rests beneath it, it should be a towering shaft.

J. A. BELILES IN WINDSTORM.
News came to town Tuesday afternoon giving account of the terrific wind storm which passed through the Big Muddy and Sandy creek section,
doing great damage to fences, barns
and houses. The barn of Frank Barrow was blown down and the roof was blown off of the new residence of James Amos Bellies. His wife and children were at home alone but were unhurt.

Mr. Bellies had started to town to attend the meeting of the M. W. of
A. lodge and had a thrilling experience in the storm on Hiram Kitchen's
hill where he was blown from his horse and carried some distance by the wind, only saving himself from being blown away by catching hold of a small sapling.

The destructive effects of the wind
extended as far down as the farms of Judge A. H. Tuck, R. D. Forsythe
Wm. Shifflette and others, where great damage was done to fences and out-buildings.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Hubert Ellis has passed from time
to eternity leaving many sad and broken hearts to mourn his death. He was 10 years, 6 months and 1 day
old when he died, son of Mr. and Mrs.
Walker Ellis. He died of heart trouble, which he had been subject to all his life. But the day before he died that night, Feb. 25, while the lamp of life was still burning he played out in the yard with his little brother and sister and started himself a little playhouse but failed to finish it that day and when the rays of the sun
was shining over him on the earth
he said, "I will finish this to-morrow,
but the little building will never be finished by the hands that started it.
Before the morning sun had shown its first beams of morning light the last spark of life had fled and Hubert had gone home to God to live forever in eternal bliss.

His remains were laid to rest besides his grandfather in the Cook cemetery. We extend our profoundest sympathy to the bereaved family.—

Even a Free-Trader Might See It

Congressman Clark is faced with the proposition that always rises up to haunt Free-Trade Democrats when they seek to put their attractive theories into active practice. When such efforts are made it is usually found that the Protective Tariff system enables American growers and manufacturers to pay American wages and continue in business with a fair profit
to themselves. It is also usually shown that the first effect of the reduction of a Tariff on an article on which a Protective Tariff is needed is felt
by the workingman. Even a Free-Trade Democrat like Mr. Clark will hardly be willing to see the developing citrus fruit trade of California
wiped out by forcing it into competition with growers who have the financial advantage of the beggarly
wages paid the Italian peasants and the west Indian peons.—Omaha
"Bea."

Lincoln's Address at Gettysburg.

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation conceived in liberty
and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation
so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives. It is altogether
fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a large sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men living and dead who struggle
here, have consecrated it far above
our poor power to add or detract.
The world will little note, nor long
remember, what we say here, but it
can never forget what they did here.
It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work
which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be dedicated here to the great task remaining before us, that from
these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that
these dead shall not have died in vain;
that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that the Government of the people, by the people, and for the people shall not perish from the earth.

NEW APPLIANCE MAKES THE GUN SILENT.

Longitudinal Cross Section of H.
P. Maxim's Rifle "Silencer," Showing Turbine Veins.

Patents having been obtained on
it in 24 countries, Hiram Percy Maxim
gave a demonstration and explanation recently of his silencing device
for rifles before a large number of newspapers and scientific publications.
By the use of a sashbox target the inventor made a series of experiments
by firing a variety of rifles, ranging
in power from a twenty-two caliber
up to the new Springfield thirty caliber military rifle. They were fired
both with and without the "silencer,"
and the spectators—or perhaps it might be better to say auditors—mar-
veled at the effect of the little device.
It is said scientific tests show that 90 per cent. of the noise of explosion
is eliminated.

The "silencer" is a metal tube about seven inches long and an inch and a quarter in diameter, which can be fastened quickly to the end of a rifle
barrel which has been provided with a thread for that purpose. Higher to those who did not know Mr.
Maxim's secret had an idea there was
a valve in the "silencer" which stopped
the rapid escape of the gases from the end of the barrel. It is these gases which cause the noise in firing.

Mr. Maxim explained that the principle used in stopping or slowing
up the gases is that of a negative
turbine, and the process, in effect,
is the reverse of that used in driving boats with a turbine engine. There is a hole through the center of the "silencer" large enough to permit the easy passage of the bullet. As for the gases, they are given a rapid rotary motion by the device, which prevents their escape until this motion
has died down.

Mr. Maxim used the simple illustration of a wash basin. By giving a rapid rotary motion to the water
it is prevented from escaping through
the vent at the bottom until the motion slackens, when it escapes slowly.
While the water is revolving rapidly
the vent is open so that a small object would be able to pass through freely without being retarded in the slightest degree. The invention was passed around the room for inspection.

It is declared that the velocity of the bullet is not lessened in the least
degree, as the gases have done all
their work on the projectile before
they reach the "silencer."

Our Coal Supply.

It was feared at one time that the rate of coal consumption would soon
outgrow the rate of production, and there was talk of curtailing the use of coal in many industries. But the inventor proceeded to make coal mining machinery which lessened the labor of extracting the raw product
from the earth and increased the output tenfold. England to-day bases her hope of extending the period of her profitable coal-mining upon the invention of machinery that will compensate
for the added cost of deeper mining.
In America coal-mining machinery has doubled and tripled the output. A coal digger cuts and extracts the coal from its bed as fast as three or four skilled miners could formerly do; it falls automatically upon cars, which swing upward like elevators to the light of day, and deposit their content
into chutes. Down the sooty mass
tumbles to the breakers, where it is pounded and broken into sizes suitable for commerce. Thence it slides on to the washery, and comes out at the other end to be dumped on cars. The cars quickly cross the country to some river or bay where canal-boats are waiting. The transference from the cars to the boats, and from the boats to
the wholesale and retail dealers' coal-
yards, is performed automatically.
Even when coal comes into our homes
it is shot down chutes into the cellar, and not carried there in buckets and baskets as of old.

And yet for all this simplifying of labor, this invention of machines to reduce the dust and ashes nobody likes coal, and we all pray for the time to come when its use may be abolished.
It is not a popular article of commerce
it is a clumsy and dirty fuel, and in this age of invention and discovery it seems woefully out of date. It is not new machinery to increase the output that we are longing for, but the discovery of some new method of obtaining heat and power.—George Elliott Walsh in March Appendix.

You'll Enjoy Monte Cristo.

Millions have followed the fortunes
of Edmond Dantes, until he started
the world as "MONTE CRISTO,"
but the interest of all who have seen
the play is hardly less than the eagerness of those who have not. It is hard for a play-goer to imagine the effect of the revelation of "MONTE CRISTO" upon persons in the audience who have never seen it. If there be any such in this community, they will have a chance to see the play
at the Opera House, Hartford, Wednesday evening March 10, when Fred
G. Conrad's widely-known production of the version arranged by Eugene Moore will be presented. Mr. Moore,
who is one of the best Edmond Dan-
tes living, prepared his adaptation with great and effective on the stage. The

Says Kiss is an Intoxicant.

Rev. Henry W. Ireland, of the Disciples Church, declared in the pulpit
that there must be no more hugging
and kissing in his church during services.

"Why," said Rev. Ireland, I have seen young fellows who come to church
for no other purpose than to disturb
the service, lean forward over the back of the pew and press a kiss on some fair maiden's lips and the smack could be heard all over the house.

"And that is not the worst of it.
The hugging and kissing nuisance
not confined merely to the younger set, but occasionally some older persons have annoyed me in the same manner.

"The kiss is an intoxicant and, like
the saloon, must go. The nectar suggested from the red lips is more fruitful
of consequences than any alcoholic beverage ever distilled.

"I think kissing is the worst thing
a young woman can do, and the amount of hugging and kissing some
of our girls do—of our best families,
too—is really a menace to our morality.

"I have carefully inquired into the matter and find that many young girls imagine this is the way to get husbands. It may help some but, kissing is not all that is necessary."

OTHER COUNTRIES "FORE- STALLING" NEW TARIFF.

Countries Said to be Raising their Duties to be Ready
For Us.

It would seem that countries whose treaties permit them to do so are getting ready to raise their minimum Tariff rates to correspond with the minimum rates which our new Tariff law is expected to carry. There is nothing unusual in that and nothing wrong. We are, in fact, doing the same thing ourselves. It is not a matter for any country to find fault with. The only proper ground for complaint is discrimination. Some countries now discriminate against us.
To meet that situation Congress is preparing a maximum rate, to be used
in retaliation.

It cannot be too often repeated that
the ordinary rate of duty on imports
is a matter which each country ought to enact and maintain in the sole
interest of its people with no regard whatever to others. The minimum Tariff rate in a dual Tariff ought to be the rate at which the country is willing to admit products regardless of origin. That is what the American people expect of the coming Congress.
They are not concerned with the minimum rate, except that it be large enough to secure civil treatment from other countries. The minimum rate is what we stand by, and it is open to all countries of the earth, just as the Dingley rates are now open. If a country misuses us, it will pay the maximum rate. It is none of our business what rate of duty any other country places on imports. All we ask is that our goods shall have the same chance as those of other countries. If the minimum rates of any other country are lower than the interests of its people require, they ought to be raised. This is a Protectionist country, and we have neither
the right nor the disposition to complain of any other country for imposing Protective duties—prohibitive,
if they think best. The United States has conspired with European nations
to compel poor China to levy duties not exceeding 5 per cent. on our products, while we, we choose, may impose duties of 100 per cent. on Chinese goods. It is, of course, a result of performance, but although we join in compelling China to accept a Tariff made in our interest, we have not the slightest intention of ourselves submitting to dictation. We shall fix our duties to suit ourselves.
We shall find no fault if all others
except China do the same.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Time They Did.

The New York Times expresses the opinion that the prospect for smashing Protection "is distinctly more encouraging from the single fact that an extensive organization of manufacturers demands a revision of the Tariff." In this no doubt the "Times" speaks
according to its lights. Evidently it does not know that the Tariff rippling
tendencies of the organization alluded
to are confined to a small but dominant coterie of officials whose course in this regard is not approved by a large majority of the membership.
Signs of this disapproval are very plentiful with a prospect that they will become still more visible at the next annual election. The real Protectionists of the National Association of Manufacturers, as we are informed,
are getting ready to resume control
of the acts and deliberations of the association. It is time they did.

WASHINGTON IN KENTUCKY HISTORY.

John W. Townsend Writes
Of the Footprints

Of the Father of His Country
Upon our State's History.

Monroe and Roosevelt were the only chief executives of the United States who have ever officially visited Kentucky while occupants of the Presidential chair. Of course Jackson and Polk were obliged to pass through this state on their way to and from their Tennessee homes, and Grant occasionally ran down from the Capitol to Covington, Kentucky, to spend a few days with his aged parents. But Washington's stay is more interesting and was for more profitable to the Blue Grass than were the visits of any of the foregoing men.

Between 1770 and 1772 George Washington nearly a score of years before he was elected President, surveyed 2,084 acres of land for John Fry, stretching across the Big Sandy River into the present State of West Virginia and Kentucky and embracing the little town of Louisa, in Lawrence county, Kentucky. Upon one of the corner trees he cut two words "G. W." For nearly 90 years, until destroyed during the war between the States, the record of Washington's visit to this State was preserved in tangible form. He later surveyed another great tract of land for Fry on the Little Sandy River, some ten miles from the mouth in the present county of Greenup. The patent for these lands was issued by Great Britain and it is finally fell into the possession of Richardson Apperson, of Mr. Sterling, Kentucky, who carefully preserved it until his death.

Washington was unanimously elected President in 1789. Kentucky was not then in the Union so of course had no vote. The first State that he recommended to Congress for admission was Kentucky. He did this in December, 1790, and in the following February an act to this end was passed and received the President's signature. Washington was again unanimously re-elected in 1793, and Kentucky's four electoral votes were cast for him by Charles Scott, Benjamin Logan, Nottley Conn and Richard C. Anderson.

A few months later, Democratic societies were organized at Lexington, Paris and Georgetown, with the view to oppose Washington's administration. The Lexington society resolved "That the right of the people on the waters of the Mississippi to its navigation is undoubted and ought to be peremptorily demanded of Spain by the United States government."

The Kentucky Academy, which was later one of the two schools that was consolidated to form Transylvania University was established in the year 1795, under Presbyterian auspices. Commissioners were sent East, where they obtained $10,000 for its endowment. Aaron Burr subscribed $40 and John Adams, Robert Morris and Washington gave $100 each. The President received the commissioners very cordially and expressed great interest in Kentucky's future.

When the General Assembly desired to immortalize a man, they name a town or county for him, and for fear this would not be quite clear or that an error might creep in, they christened both a county and a town in honor of the great Virginian. The old village of Washington in Mason county and the county of Washington of which Springfield is the county seat, are the places. In the former Albert Sidney Johnson was born February 2, 1802 and the latter's most distinguished citizen was Felix Grundy.

Washington died December 14, 1799 and nowhere was the mourning more sincere than in Kentucky. The Kentucky Gazette reproduced in its issue of January 9, 1800, the following tribute from the Baltimore Telegraph:

"Reader, whoever they are and whatever part of the world reside, mourn with us the death of the friend to liberty and man; the saviour of his country; the defender of her rights; the warrior, the statesman and the private citizen; who never swerved from the path of rectitude in the time of duty; ne'er arrogated to himself unwarrantable power though placed in situation to command it; and whose action tended to the public good, from his early days to the end of his existence. It were in vain for us to attempt to delineate all the virtues of this great man in a newspaper paragraph to those more acquainted with the particulars of his life, we resign the task of enumerating each particular excellence; but to us belongs to record in general terms the good, qualities so universally respected,

ed, whether in public or retired life; in the field, in the Cabinet or as a private individual of the community, he commanded universal admiration and esteem—in every sense of the word he was a man and beloved by every class of men, that have heard the name of Washington.

February 22, 1832, was the centennial anniversary of his birth, and no State celebrated it with more respect than Kentucky. Eighteen years later, the Kentucky Legislature requested the greatest of our Governors, John J. Crittenden, to have a block of Kentucky marble placed in the Washington monument the corner stone of which had been laid in 1848. These words were cut upon it: "Under the auspices of Heaven and the precepts of Washington, Kentucky will be the last to give up the Union." And a decade later, after a desperate struggle, she made this declaration history.

JOHN WILSON TOWNSEND.

A Hurry up Call.

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's burned himself, terribly—Johnnie cut his foot with the axe—Mamie scalded—Pa can't walk for piles—Billie has boils—and my corns ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. Its the greatest healer on earth. Sold by all druggists.

HOME-MADE MIXTURE TO END RHEUMATISM.

Simple Advice and Directions to Prepare Effective Medicine.

To relieve the worst forms of Rheumatism, take a teaspoonful of the following mixture after each meal and at bedtime:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

These harmless ingredients can be obtained from our home druggists, and are easily mixed by shaking them well in a bottle. Relief is generally felt from the first few doses.

This prescription forces the clogged-up, inactive kidneys to filter and strain from the blood the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, which causes Rheumatism.

As Rheumatism is not only the most painful and torturous disease but dangerous to life, this simple recipe will no doubt be greatly valued by many sufferers here at home, who should at once prepare the mixture to get this relief.

It is said that a person who would take this prescription regularly a dose or two daily, or even a few times a week, would never have serious Kidney or Urinary disorders or Rheumatism.

Cut this out and preserve it. Good Rheumatism prescriptions which really relieve are scarce, indeed, and when you need it, you want it badly.

Wild Dogs is the Most Feared Beasts in South Africa.

The wild dogs of Africa are more feared by the natives than any other beasts, for while they are no to be dignified by the term of game, they run in packs and seem to know that the native is afraid of them. Native burden-bearers will often take their chances in passing around a buffalo herd and will hardly notice a lion, but when they hear the howl of the wild dogs they drop whatever they may be balancing on their heads and take to the trees. There they are frequently held captive until their cries summon assistance. Crossing the trail of large game these dogs often interfere with the pursuit. At a distance the hunter is likely to mistake them for leopards or some of the smaller game. Intense disgust follows the wounding of a wild dog, for then, according to the ethics of the chase, the true sportsman must pursue and kill the beasts. These dogs are not degenerate, but are natural mongrels. They have low bodies covered with hair of coach-dog growth, hushy tails and powerful jaws.—From McClure's Magazine.

Night on Bald Mountain.

On a lonely night Alex Benton of Fort Edward, N. J. climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later he cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe in the greatest Throat and Lung cure on Earth. Coughs, Colds, Croup, Hemorrhages and Sore Lungs are surely cured by it. Best for Hay Fever, Grip and Whooping Cough 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by all druggists.

FINE PERRLS WITH X-RAYS.

Do The Big Fisheries of Ceylon.

How Science is Saving Vast Labor in Search For Precious Gems.

Pearl Fishing is the very latest industry to make use of X-rays. Hither to the process of obtaining pearls has been extravagantly wasteful of the oysters, for until the shells were opened and the oysters killed there was no means of ascertaining whether they contained pearls or not. In Ceylon, the chief pearl fishery of the world, the immortal custom has been to dredge up the oysters open them and throw them into a receptacle there to decay. The number of shells which contain pearls is only a small proportion of the total number garnered, but all must perish in this methodical devastation. After the oysters have decayed for a certain time they are heaped up in troughs and rinsed in sea water. This washing carries off most of the flesh, and being repeated several times, leaves a sediment in the troughs. This is examined carefully for pearls. The shells are also examined, for the majority of the pearls are found in the shreds of flesh which adhere to the shells.

The process not only wastes the oysters which contain no pearls, but which if allowed to live might sooner or later bear them, but it wastes the small seed pearls which if left in the sea would grow to a size that would make them valuable. It has also this great inconvenience; that the smell about the fisheries is not only intensely disagreeable, but often productive of pestilence. The natives who have to work in the putrefying mass are exposed to wounds from the sharp edges of the shells and these wounds frequently become poisoned. The consequences is that the pearl fishers have often perished by thousands from epidemics of such diseases as cholera.

In 1901 Dr. Raphael Dubois, Professor of Comparative Physiology at the University of Lyon, well known for his writings on marine biology, founder and Director of the laboratory at St. Nazaire and of the experimental station at Tamaris, near Toulon exhibited to the Linnean Society at Lyon radiographs of a fresh-water mussel, showing the pearl inside it. Five years later, in the Palais de Mer, at the Colonial Exposition in Marseilles, Dr. Dubois exhibited a unique collection of pearls and pearl-bearing shells, with which he showed a radiograph of a Chinese pearl-bearing oyster with a magnificent pearl inside. This is the radiograph which is reproduced herewith.

John Salomon, an American electrical engineer, saw these radiographs and divined the possibilities they contained. He went to Tamaris and studied pearl culture under Dr. Dubois who had transplanted large quantities of oysters from Ceylon and Tunis. Then he went to Ceylon and began putting into practice the radiographing of oysters. He built himself a house on the deserted island of Ipanitu, in an immense bay, bordered by cocoanut and spice-bearing trees. As fast as the fisher brings in the oysters to him they are ranged in troughs each containing 100, and are taken to the X-ray room. In less than a minute 60 batches of 100 each are photographed. Those which contain pearls large enough to be of value are opened at once while those which contain none are cast back into the sea. The shells which contain seed pearls are carefully deposited in a marked area of the bay, called the nursery, to remain until such time as Mr. Salomon thinks their pearls have attained sufficient growth. Thus no oysters or pearls are wasted.

Pearls are the product of a special secretion found only in a few mollusk among which are mussels of river beds and the many varieties of marine oysters. Their origin has never been authoritatively explained, for learned men disagree about it. One of the best opinions is that pearls are a sort of cyst hardened by calcification and due perhaps to a small parasite. They are generally found in the fleshy part of the oyster, which is known as the mantle.

A City of Insane.

One of the most remarkable places in Europe, of which no tourist on pleasure bent ever takes notice says a writer in a Berlin paper, is the "City of the Insane," by which name Gheel, near Antwerp, has been known for generations.

About 1,500 men and women, afflicted with insanity in all its forms, live there, and have a happy being as the "guests" of the inhabitants, who know, by experience how to treat the unfortunate ones. In the streets in the places of amusement, the cafes, the workshops these patients may be found and nowhere is there the remotest suggestion of restraint apparent. The board ranges from 240 to 2,400 marks a year, and no matter how small the amount may be the patient is always the favored member of the family. He has the first right to the most comfortable chair and the head of the table belongs to him. He receives the most attention, and this he learns to appreciate and to endeavor to maintain by living down his illness. Even the children know how to treat the demented people. The dangerous ones are sent to another settlement and to institutions. It is wonderful how considerate careful and kind the simple people are toward their charges, and a peep into the community would probably terrify physicians who had never heard of and could not appreciate the good which is being done in this "City of the Insane."

Dr. A. D. James Congratulated.

Congressman A. D. James, successor will have to get a "hustle on" if he accomplishes as much in the 61st Congress as did Doctor James in the 60th for the old soldiers of the Third District. The records show that Congressman James has done more by way of having increases allowed the soldiers of the Civil War, by special legislation and otherwise, in his district than any of his Democratic predecessors and a glance at the records indicate that Democratic members of Congress from that District have shown very little interest in those who fought to save the union. Doctor James is receiving congratulations from constituents in all his counties on the splendid work he has done and for the many useful things accomplished for his people.

In Muhlenburg.

The Iron-workers have arrived from Peoria, Ill. and active work has been commenced on the large steel tipples of the Kentucky Midland Coal Company, six miles west of here on the new Kentucky Midland railroad, now in running order some distance between this city and Madisonville.

We understand that arrangements are under way to pipe gas from here to the bluff on Green river? It would undoubtedly prove a paying investment. A fine picnic ground and summer garden could be made at the bluff which could be reached by boat from up and down the river as well as by electric cars from this city.

Drakesboro has taken another step forward—it now has an opera house and several good companies have already been booked. Drakesboro has some live up-to-date people and they aim to get their town everything that is worth having.

Considerable damage was done by Tuesday's rain-storm along the line of the new Kentucky Midland railroad. At Midland, the big dam, recently built to make a lake of ten acres, broke and the rushing water did considerable damage. The Coal Company will rebuild the dam at once.

Little old Goose creek, back of the Sandusky House, got on a high last Tuesday morning and tried to cover the earth; came near doing it, too, if the railroad Broadstreet, Maiden Lane, Locust street and thereabout is the earth. At Rohrer's corner on Locust street the water was over a foot deep and meat was sold out of Keown's market at the end of a falling-pole through a back window. A platform wagon was brought into requisition to rescue the ladies from the Central City laundry and the Forney offices. A washout occurred on the L. & N. track south of the depot and the morning northbound train was held up for some time. Goose creek was on a tear sure.

A party of young people chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sargent, took a trip through the mines here, Thursday night 18th, all report a most pleasant time, barring the stubbornness of the mule who at one time struck for a lighter load as the two car train on which he was chief cook and bottle washer was loaded to the rim's.

Those composing the party were: Misses Mildred and Anna Riggs, Myrtle and Hazel Anderson, Ina and Mabel Parton, Mary Hagerman, Lizzie Nell Messers Joe Putman, Roy Brown Hoker, Clarke, Arthur Wells, Pete Brown, Carl Green and Ben Hill. Als Bryant Cundiff who carried the party through and proceeded to show them a royal time, Martin Monaghan was also there by a large majority as he furnished lunch, which consisted of a bag of oakes all wish to thank the Supt. Mr. Alexander for his kindness in allowing them the pleasure of the trip as it was indeed a treat for all.—Muhlenburg Argus.

LADIES TAKE A LOOK AT THE 1909 HAT.

The Cabriolet, Successor to the Merry Widow, Is Sunbonnet Sublimated.

Get a Cabriolet and be in style.

The Cabriolet is not a new kind of taxicab. It's a hat. It represents in composite form the combined genius of that organization of artistic prodigies, the National Association of Retail Milliners. One was on exhibition yesterday when the semi annual opening began at the Palmer House. It was surrounded all day by a group of admiring women. Some of them called it a poem, others said it was a dear. Those who know told their friends that it was the very newest of hat concoctions—the Cabriolet.

The Cabriolet despite the fact that it is a hat, has some of the dominant characteristics of the cab family. It yawns in front and flaps at the sides just as the common or seagoing cab does. Viewed at a distance it bears a general resemblance to the top of the cab's vulgaris or village hack. Its' the sunbonnet sublimated. It looks like a carriage top done into peltry.

Cabriolets will be decorated with wild flowers fruit and fresh vegetables. There will be no poultry this year. The Audubon Society is down on that kind of thing and society has taken a virtuous turn this year. But all the other kinds of produce will be there—corn tassels and cherries, spinach, carrot tops and grapes.

The "Merry Widow," according to those in charge of the opening is to remain with us. So also is the mushroom. If possible they will be Merry Widder and Mushroomer than ever, but that, the milliners explain, is the last gasp. The Merry Widow is on her way. She will be soon in the limbo of forgotten things with the the crinoline, the steel corset and other relics of our budding civilization.

The tendency is hat extremes is to meet, the modists declare. The missing link is the Dutch bonnet. It is pretty modest, shrinking, it represents all that the mushroom should be and is not. It is the epitome of repressed art in the world millinery.

The Milliners Association this year has adopted as its warwhoops. Death to the factory made hat! This is not because the milliners have anything against the factory owners or the girls who work for them. They adopted it because you know it is customary every year to have some kind of a warwhoop and besides, the factory-made hat is not "artistic." Incidentally also it is cheap. A cheap hat, the visitor can discover in one visit to the opening is the most ignoble known of creation.

To-morrow night the association will put on its best gown and receive society. The Cabriolet the Dutch bonnet, the Merry Widow and the Mushroom will be among those present. There will also be a big display of hats of less degree.

Pure Air Made to Order.

A man of science in Berlin has taken to running ordinary air through a machine to make better stuff to breathe of it. Not satisfied that the atmosphere which nature furnishes for the purpose is all that it should be he has undertaken to make of it a more acceptable and useful and valuable human asset. The only queer thing about the matter, too, is that he is accomplishing.

Everybody knows that oxygen in our air is a good thing. It is possible to get too much of it, like other good things, but there is comparatively little suffering caused among members of the human race, just at this stage of the world's life, by a superabundance of this particular desirable. In fact, sometimes it seems as many of us were trying to see how little of it we can assimilate, without actual asphyxiation, instead of enjoying a full measure as one of the luxuries of existence. But it isn't always our own fault, it seems, and that's why the Berliner, Dr. Fischer by name, a member of the faculty of the famous Berlin University, has produced his invention.

It is no news to the world that the oxygen in our air is capable of being changed into a thing called ozone, a mighty enemy of bacteria and other things inimical to human lungs and human blood, destroyer of bad smells and powerful purifier in general. Sunlight itself, by constantly producing the stuff in dilute form, disinfects daily and hourly, to a degree, the air we breathe. The trouble is that we have too little sun because of our smoke and our dust and our roofs, under which we stay too large a proportion of the time when the ozone producer is working.

The Ordinary Lion and the "Man Eater."

There is a distinction in Africa between ordinary lions and "man-eaters." The ordinary lion does not willfully attack man. The presence of lions roaring at night on the veldt is not disturbing to any native nor to whites who have come to understand the beast. Persons returning to their camps after nightfall do not notice the roaring of lions or the cries of leopards and hyenas. It is seldom that people bent upon domestic errands carry weapons in the darkness although at night the veldt of British East Africa is alive with roaming beasts, which may be heard from the verandas of the houses. Lions give the passing man a wide berth, day or night, when it is apparent that he means no mischief. An ordinary lion, even when wounded, will try fight before flight. When its escape is disrupted, it will especially if wounded, try to maul its enemy with teeth and claws. A lion hunt is usually a chase in which the hunters goad the game into combat. Once a lion has tasted human blood, however, it is no more afraid of man, but learns that he is the weakest of animals and the choicest of meat. Such a lion is known as a man-eater because now he hunts man.—From McClure's Magazine.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional remedies is counsel by an inflamed condition. Deafness is counsel by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

Rural Carriers Meet.

The Ohio County Rural Carriers Association met in Beaver Dam Ky., on Feb. 22, 1909. House was called to order by the President H. F. Lowe, with a nice talk in regard to the object of the meeting. The following order by the president H. F. Lowe, J. E. Davidson, Seth Moeley, Wm. A. Basham, R. H. Taylor, C. D. Onick and D. L. Miller. Motion made by J. E. Davidson for the President to appoint a committee on resolutions and the following were appointed: Wm. Basham, C. D. Chick and D. L. Miller, who submitted the following: The R. D. Carriers of Ohio county in convention assembled passed the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we deplore the present system of working our public roads and ask our county judge to try to appoint competent road overseers, and to do all in his power to better our roads.

Resolved, That the carriers do what they can to give the patrons good service and that the patrons do what they can to help the carriers, especially in keeping on hand a supply of stamps.

Resolved, That as we believe the Parcels Post will be put on us, we think we should be recognized in regard to our salary. As the city carrier is allowed a maintenance for horses, we think we should be allowed the same.

Resolved, That we now ask the authorities that they furnish us relief from the abuse of which we complain.

Resolved, That both our county papers be furnished a copy of these resolutions, as well as the R. F. D. News.

Adjourned to meet at some future time.

Resolutions of Respect.

Atabaska Tribe No. 256 Improved Order of Red Men, Cromwell, Ky.

Whereas, The great spirit of the Universe has seen cause to call from our hunting grounds our friend and brother, Lewis Johnson, who was born April 6, 1833, died Feb. 32 1909.

Resolved, That he was a true, faithful and loved member of our fraternity whose death has brought upon us a sorrow and sadness which will scarcely be removed during our fleeting trail of life.

That he was a consistent and devoted member, that he was active and earnest in aiding to inculcate the true principles of Redmanship, by his walks our members were made better and nobler.

That the Tribe has lost a true and loyal Chief, the community an honored citizen, his wife a loving and dutiful husband.

That we tender our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family and bid them take hope and consolation in the heavenly assurance that they shall meet again where there is no sorrow and no death, but eternal happiness and joy.

That a page be set aside in the Record Book of this Tribe as a Memorial to our departed brother and these resolutions be spread thereon, that a copy be furnished the bereaved family and same published in the Red Man paper and both county papers.

About Spring Styles.

GRIFTON CLOTHES

That something called style is a bugbear to most men—their mind is occupied with details of their own work and they are not supposed to be fully posted on what to wear, or what not to wear. It's part of our business to know—part of our business to impart that knowledge to you when you come to buy. When you come in don't be afraid to ask our advice regarding correct styles in garments—that's what we are here for—we know how to dress you properly, and you may depend upon our judgment. Spring styles are now ready.

GOLD MEDAL FIELD SEEDS

THE SURE-GROWING KIND

Are a safe proposition for us because we can buy them under a guarantee that any shipment found to be unsatisfactory can be returned at the shipper's expense.

That means no chance of our having poor seeds in stock. Doesn't that make GOLD MEDAL SEEDS a pretty good proposition for you?
